Bloodmobile will visit OU campus

Omaha's Bloodmobile will visit the OU campus Nov. 30 in participation with the annual Red Cross Blood Drive.

"Back our boys at the front—give your blood," is the slogan of the Alpha Phi Omega sponsored drive.

Starting Monday, those wishing to contribute blood may sign up at the table in the second floor hall. Students wishing to pledge blood must be 18 years of age or over. Those not yet 21 must have their parents' written permission.

"Let's break Creighton University's record of 300 donated pints of blood," urges Don Chase, chairman of the OU drive.

Theta Chi fraternity's 65 members have pledged 100 percent support.

Omaha Optimist Club awards 'Optimist of Year' title to Tom Townsend, OU Summa Cum Laude graduate

A former Omaha University student, Thomas N. Townsend, has been chosen the 1951 Optimist of the Year by the Omaha Optimist Club.

The award plaque was presented at the club's noon luncheon Wednesday in the Black Mirror room at the Hotel Fontenelle.

Townsend, who holds the position as editor's assistant on the National Education Association Journal, flew to Omaha from Washington D. C., Tuesday evening. A delegation consisting of his parents, OU friends and Optimists were on hand to greet him.

Shares limelight

In accepting the honor, Townsend thanked his friends and family who, "make the biggest part of my optimism possible." He pointed to the Omaha Optimists as encouraging the youth of Omaha to greater accomplishments.

University Players will ring up curtain at 8:15 on first production of year, 'Tobias and Angel'

"Archangel" Dick Smith brings "food from Java" to Tobias and his blind father, played by Bill Pierson and Don Sarooian. This is a scene from the first act of "Tobias and the Angel," which opens tonight in the university auditorium.

Pierson, Sibert, Smith to lead actors in fall show; activity cards admit students

The University Players' first production of the season, "Tobias and the Angel," will seek audience acclaim when it opens a two-day run on the university stage tonight. The production, under the direction of Dr. Edwin W. Clark, University Players' sponsor, will be enacted following the initial curtain rising at 8:15 p.m.

Puzzled pigs ponder...

Puzzled "oinks" will issue from the stockyard feedlots outside Omaha because of "Tobias and the Angel," University Players' Production.

Phil Abramson, costume designer, unable to open the wardrobe room door recently, went in search of the key. Phil left a sack by the door.

An innocent janitor threw it in a garbage can. Contents? Phil's lunch, some feathers and a made-over hat for the play.

Admission for the general public is 75 cents. Tickets may be obtained at the ticket window in the lower hall. Students will be admitted on activity tickets.

Troubles cease

The problems which have plagued the Players throughout rehearsals have been overcome. Marilyn Sibert located a whip, Dick Smith put his ingenuity to work and made a pair of sandals, and Amos, who has staged a few of his canine capers and ad-libs, was fired. His replacement is a well-mannered dog named Fritz who will carry the name of "Toby" in the production.

The sets contain a combination of soft colors. They have been done simply, yet with modernistic features. The color scheme is predominantly rose and blue.

Elbow grease

The costume department, working night and day to accomplish its ends, has been hampered by lack of "elbow room." Their backstage room contained, among other things, two sewing machines, an ironing board, chairs, bolts of material and a victrola grinding out classical music.

However, the costumes are completed and will be added to the permanent collection of props. They were designed by Elaine Bloxom and Phil Abramson.

Tobias cast

Appearing before the footlights tonight will be Don Sarooian as Tobit, Dick Smith as the Angel, Bill Pierson as Tobias, Mary Rispler as Anna and Marilyn Sibert as Sara.

Others are Joan Harris as Sherah, Helen Burhorn as Azorah, Bob Hanson as Raguel and Don Blocker in the dual role of Asmodeus and the Bandit. The attendants will be Bonny Burgess, Jackie Zerbe, Carol Blore and Barbara Zimmerman.

Tomahawk issues last call for senior photos

Any senior who has not yet had his picture taken "is in a bad way," said Dick Winchell, associate editor of The Tomahawk, yesterday.

As far as the engraver is concerned, Winchell stated, pictures which are not in his office by Dec. 21 will not appear in the senior section of the yearbook.

Winchell added that if any senior has not had his picture taken he may do so Monday or Tuesday. During this time students must have their pictures taken and proofs chosen and returned to the Tomahawk office.

Seniors who have not had their pictures taken are urged to report to the Tomahawk office immediately for an appointment. The Tomahawk is in the Student Publications, the northeast corner of the Student Center.

Air cadets will fly to Miami for convention

Twenty-five advanced cadets from OU's Air Force ROTC unit are tentatively scheduled to journey to Miami, Fla., next weekend. The cadets will attend the annual National Convention of the Arnold Air Society.

An invitation was extended to advanced cadets of the Omaha unit earlier this week.

Lt. Col. Allen H. Wood, professor of air science and tactics, and Maj. Robert E. Whaley, commandant of cadets, have prospective plans to fly the local delegates to Miami in an aircraft from Offutt Field.

Thanksgiving convo Monday features missionary speaker

Omaha University's Thanksgiving observance will be held Monday morning in the auditorium at 9:30. The annual convo has been changed from Wednesday morning to Monday in order to hear special guest speaker, Dr. Ruth Isabel Seabury, educational secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions. Thanksgiving vacation officially begins at 9:40 Wednesday night.

Rev. J. R. Kennedy, pastor of First Christian Church and instructor in religion at the university, will preside. He will be assisted by Dr. Harold T. Janes, pastor of First Congregational Church.

Class schedule

Shortened class schedule will be as follows: 8-8:40, 8:45-9:25, 9:30-10:30 convocation, 10:30-11:10, and 11:15-11:50.

Dr. Seabury is one of America's foremost Christian women speakers, and spends the major part of her time speaking to study groups, adult lay workers, and holding youth discussions on college campuses. A member of the National Preaching Mission of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America, she is in demand before interdenominational groups as well as in her Congregational Church.

Missionary work

In 1948, she served in Japan as missionary of the American Board of Special Christian service. While there, she spent considerable time working with Japanese students under the National Students Christian Movement.

Coffee Hour focuses eye on Russian party system

The next Coffee Hour will be held Nov. 26 at 3 p.m. in the faculty clubroom.

A discussion on the Russian party system, led by Pat Palmquist and Duane Post, will top off the get-together.

There will be another Coffee Hour Dec. 10. Miss Ellen Lord, librarian here at the university, will give a Christmas talk.

sented the plaque and gave a brief biographical sketch of Townsend's accomplishments while at Benson High and at the university.

Held many jobs

Graduated second in a class of 256 at Benson, Townsend was awarded the Summa Cum Laude title upon graduation from OU. He held a straight "A" average throughout his four years.

While at the university, Townsend was a member of the Student Council, editor-in-chief of The Gateway, served on the Junior Prom and Senior Banquet Committees, was a member of the Social Science Club and was elected to three honorary fraternities—Phi Eta Sigma, Corinthians and Omicron Delta Kappa.

In concluding the award speech, Hansen added that Townsends' initials, TNT, stand, "Not for one big explosion but for a chain of recurring achievements."

Bourne Says

Men forage for fine feathered friends, find a few pheasants

With the warm, autumn days comes the hunting season when the would-be nimrods dig out the shotguns and trapse the fields in search of game.

Pheasants are in season now. The hunters are getting a few in this locale, but the really good shooting is in the western and southern part of the state.

Armed with this pertinent info, yours truly accompanied a small party of hunters 250 miles last weekend in search of game.

After driving all night, one can hardly expect to be in any kind of shape to hunt this elusive bird. Nevertheless, the true sportsman will do this: travel a long distance for a few fowl. After adding up the cost and dividing the weight of the birds into this figure, usually the per pound rate runs around $3. Oh well, it's the sport of it.

We did see a few pheasants, but towards noon the wind came up, and they refused to fly. We got three, but after splitting with the farmer on whose land we did the hunting, we came back to Omaha with two scrawny birds. After thinking the entire matter over, it hardly seemed worthwhile, but still "it's the sport of it."

The University Players are presenting their fall production tonight and tomorrow. OU should be proud of the Players for the really fine work they do.

I, for one, have seen the dramatic presentations of other colleges. And for its size OU is right up there with the best of them. Of course the ever-present problem of money always hampers a smaller school.

It just stands to reason that a larger university can build more elaborate sets and design fancier costumes than a smaller school. Still OU does a real job and the student body should be proud of the Players and show their interest by turning out for the productions.

Saw the announcement from the placement office which appeared in the last Gateway, concerning the Christmas season part-time work.

The Post Office offers a good deal for students who like to walk and are conditioning themselves for the hikes they'll be taking when Uncle Sam beckons.

All kidding aside, however, a part-time postal route during the holiday vacation is good work if you need exercise, like to see what people get in the mail, and have a way with dogs. The canine creatures just don't seem to appreciate the idea of anyone trespassing on their domain.

If the work sounds interesting to you, apply with the placement office. They'll give you all the necessary information. It's definitely first come, first served. If you would like to "carry the mail" in your neighborhood, there's a possibility that it can be arranged if you apply early.

Hoopsters have slick floor, also slick trick for 'unslicking' floor

Slick trick of the week!

The '51-'52 basketball team went to the floor for the first time last week only to find the hardwood slick with a wood preservative.

After a few of the hoopsters "hit the deck" with dangerous falls, it was decided that some of the waxed substance just had to come off before actual practice began in order to prevent any serious injuries.

After contemplating what would be the best and quickest way to clean the floor, the order went out for the players to find a towel.

Each player then held the towel between his feet and shuffled around the floor wiping up the goo.

Reporter finds that library lovers are not always lovers of studies

By Nancy Gardiner

Most people don't realize it, but libraries are really fascinating places. One can meet almost every type of personality with little trouble at all. Deciding to prove this theory, I made a few trips to that esteemed room lately to see what I could uncover.

First of all I found that OU has one of the finest collection of books to be found in any school library. But I was making a private study of people, so the book lists had to be ignored.

Outside in

Starting from outside and working in was the best policy, I thought. So I did a little eavesdropping. The first conversation of interest overheard was between two vivacious collegiates heading for the reading room. Said one to the other, "Let's go study in the library." Came the answer, "Uh, uh, too much confusion. I can study better in the Snack Shack." And off they tripped to the Shack.

Tabulating my final results of character study, I shall make large generalities. (1) There are many study seeking fans that frequent the library. (2) There are many library loving fans that are not study loving fans. (3) It might be a good idea if a few of the library loving fans, who are not study loving fans, would have a change of heart and start making their whoopee in the Shack. This would give the study loving fans a little more time for study.

TALES OF SHRDLU

By Berk Forsythe

To the members of the freshman class the name of Tom Townsend probably doesn't mean much. But to those of us who went to school with him and worked with him here on the Gateway, he has personified all that is admirable.

This week he was called from Washington, D. C., to accept the honor that best describes him—the Optimist of the Year.

During the course of working with Tom on The Gateway and on last year's Tom Tom Revue, I've had many talks with him—some very serious and some nonsensical, for he does well with either.

He has a great intellect, a quick sense of humor, and a drive to succeed. But these aren't the attributes that have so firmly won him to the hearts of all that know him. Above all his is a human being—an alert, sensible man—proving to the world something that he set out to prove.

This isn't the story of a handicapped person—rather of a person who has left his handicap back in the school for special children. No one can feel sorry for Tom who knows him—not because they feel he might resent it, but because his genuine personality suddenly places him at the advantage.

Tom was a little afraid when he began his public school career as a senior at Benson High School. But his determination overcame what fears he had and he took the school by storm, graduating second in his class. He proved that he was more than equal to life by winning several prizes and scholarships on a competitive basis.

Accepting honors is sometimes like winning a beauty contest—if you win once you're sometimes afraid to risk your reputation in another contest. But Tom went on to win many more laurels in a life that reads like a Horatio Alger success story.

His life will certainly be an inspiration to the handicapped. But his healthy outlook on life should be an inspiration to everyone. Like everyone else, he was afraid to try things that most people would have supposed outside his scope. But he overcame his fears, when many others have buckled under to fears far less formidable.

I was part of a welcoming committee that greeted him as he stepped off of the plane from Washington, D. C. Someone asked him about his wind-blown hair.

"It was windy in Chicago," he said with a worldly grin. He informed the Gateway reporter that Princess Elizabeth wasn't able to see him while she was in Washington, but that Harry promised to make no important decisions until he returned.

I asked him what he thought of the world situation.

"I don't think much about the world situation," he said. "And that's the trouble with this country. Not enough people think about the world situation."

A practice teacher was giving his class a lesson in vocabulary. He figured the best way to build a vocabulary was for the students to take a word and use it in a sentence.

One of the boys of early grade school age was assigned to use the word "passionate" in a sentence. Teacher is still trying to figure out the answer.

"I passionate easily."

Here's a little sentence which shows what correct punctuation can do: The teacher says the pupil is a fool.

The teacher, says the pupil, is a fool.

Ah, the art of punctuation.

Stage crew to be on stage - -

Stage Manager Del Hansen seems to be giving stage crew member Harold Winslow a few pointers as the crew builds the set for "Tobias and the Angel," under the direction of Dr. Edwin Clark.

The stage crew for this play is unique, in that they are on stage in front of the audience far more than any of the actors. They are dressed in costumes appropriate to the play, moving old settings offstage and new settings on stage in full view of the audience.

Deep in the background of the picture are two more set builders, Gary Anderson and Paul Fesler.

Tickets for 'Tobias' are still available in ticket office

Omaha U faces tough unbeaten Illinois crew

Undefeated and untied Northern Illinois State will invade University Stadium to face the Red and Black forces of Omaha U tomorrow at 2 p. m.

In the past two years, the Indians succumbed to the Huskies from Illinois by 27-8 in 1949, and 27-25 last year.

This year, Northern Illinois has recorded a string of eight straight victories and is champion of the Illinois Intercollegiate Conference. It will be the last game of the season for both OU and the Huskies.

Full strength

Omaha will be at full strength for the contest that will write finis to the grid careers of seven seniors. Upperclassmen include team captain Dick Lane; linemen Howard Byram, Jack Annin, Don Beatty and Forrest Westering, and backs John Potts and Joe Gurnett.

The Indians are working on a winning streak of their own although not quite as long as the Illinois squad. In OU's last two outings, they have dropped Morningside, 20-6, and Simpson, 34-18.

Veteran ends

It will be a battle of the 24's when the two elevens collide tomorrow. Bob Heimerdinger, who is the number one small college offense leader, and Keith Christie, Omaha U's pacemaker, both will be wearing jersey number 24.

Besides standout Heimerdinger, the Huskies have two, three-letter ends in Julius Brasini and Fran Cahill. Another three-year letterman is Gil Memmen, 6 ft. 4 in., 230 pound tackle. Also outstanding in the backfield is Dick Schmidt, hard-charging full back at 6 ft., 195 pounds.

OU offense

On offense for OU, the ends will be Bob Rose and Don Maseman while the tackles will be handled by Dick Lane and Howard Byram. Jim Spencer and Jack Annin will be at the guards and Larry Johnson at center.

The backfield will have Aksel Schmidt at blocking back, Joe Gurnett at wingback, Jerry Ziehe at fullback and Keith Christie at tailback.

Theta Phi Delta captures football crown by dropping Blackhawk team

Theta Phi Delta copped the 1951 Intramural touch football title Wednesday by defeating the runner-up Blackhaws by penetration.

The previously once beaten Theta's had won one game from the Blackhaws Monday by forfeit, thus forcing the championship race to the last game.

The only defeat on the Theta Phi Delta slate was a 6-0 setback at the hands of the same Blackhaws in the early part of the season.

Blackhaws fail

The two teams finished the regular playing time, without either team scoring. Charlie Platt pitched to Bernie Anderson for the winning margin, as the Blackhaws had failed to gain in their four downs.

The Blackhaws momentarily had their hands on victory, but Jake McCourt dropped a 40-yard pass from Nick Adzick, to hand the Theta's the win.

Sig Lambs take lead

In the bowling world, Sigma Lambda Beta took over the number one spot in the league, by taking two out of three games from the Blackhaws.

In other league action, the

OU rally hits Iowa Redmen

Coming to life in the last half, Omaha University tallied three times to shut the door on the Simpson College Redmen, 34-18, at Indianola (Ia.), last Friday afternoon.

With victories in their last two games, the Indians have now attained the .500 mark with four wins and four losses.

Small margin

Unable to solve the throwing arm of Jim Mathews, Omaha held a scant 13-12 lead at half; but after intermission the Red and Black attack started rolling in high gear.

John Potts scored from the four-yard line on the third play from scrimmage in the second half to start the ball moving. Don Maseman set up the score by blocking a Simpson punt.

Minutes later, Keith Christie climaxed a 71-yard drive with a plunge from the one-foot stripe. Aksel Schmidt added the point and the Indians led at the third quarter, 27-12.

"T" Functions

Coach Lloyd Cardwell then resorted to the "T" with Jerry Welling in the driver's seat. Welling scored on a quarterback sneak from the two after a thrust from the Iowan's 88 to end the Omaha scoring.

Potts scored the first Omaha TD with a 70-yard sprint in the first minute of play, but the Redmen came back strong on marches of 78 and 69 yards to hoist the score to 12-7.

Jerry Ziehe and Christie went to work on the ground to put the Indians in a lead never to be relinquished. Ziehe dove over from the four for the OU tally.

Schmidt booted four of five point tries to raise his season total to 12 out of 14.

F-80's whipped Theta Chi, Theta Phi Delta blanked Phi Epsilon Pi and ISA dropped three games to Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Bob Russel of Theta Phi Delta was the individual standout, as he copped the individual high game with a roll of 204, and the high series with a total of 510.

Basketball practices begin as slick floor slows work

Basketball drills at the university finally got under way this week. Varsity letter-winners and Papoose members of last season started the workouts Monday.

Tuesday everyone interested in a place on the team started workouts.

Coach Don Pflasterer urged anyone interested to check out equipment as there is plenty for all.

'Mural basketball heads to submit rosters

All intramural basketball managers should turn in a list of team members to Intramural Director Ernie Gorr not later than Wednesday.

Also included on this list should be whether the team will be in the "A" or "B" league, how many men are on the team and how many teams the organization will field.

OUWI women prepare for Hemoglobin Hop; admittance by blood or time donations only Plans are under way for the OUWI Hemoglobin Hop, given to stimulate community service. Anyone coming to the party must give blood or time to the Red Cross. Names and preference as to the type of service, must be turned in to Mel Myers.

The OUWI volleyball tournament will begin Tuesday. Schedules of all the games will be

The Rifle Club had its first meeting yesterday in the PE Hut. The club will begin Nov. 30 with class instruction. Attendance at these meetings is required as no one will be allowed on the range without this primary instruction.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 28...

THE OVENBIRD

Past Grand Master of the Royal Order of Gourmets and Raconteurs—our outspoken friend knows how to find the proof of the pudding. Especially such a thing as cigarette mildness! A "quick puff" and a "single sniff" left him hungry for facts. Smokers everywhere have tried the same tests and discovered the one true test of cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments. Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

Chem club sets date for mixer

Things are poppin'. Or at least might be when chemistry students at the University of Omaha hold their annual Chemistry Mixer in the Student Center Nov. 29 at 7:30 p.m.

High school chemistry teachers, their leading students, professional chemists, members of the Omaha Chapter of the American Chemical Society, and alumni of the university Chemistry Department will be guests.

Stanley Hagstrom and Charles Hayes are chairmen of the event, which is sponsored by Gamma Pi Sigma, honorary chemistry fraternity. Dr. Nell Ward is faculty chairman.

ISA members migrate to Lincoln for 'get-together'

Members of OU's Independent Students Association will attend the Nebraska-Colorado football game next Saturday afternoon at Lincoln, Nebr. The delegation will meet with Nebraska Independents and Colorado ISA before lunch for a "get-together."

A square dance will be held Saturday evening for all attending members.

Candidates for Beauty Contest were named at ISA's last business meeting. They are Alyce Beachler, Alice Gilinski, Jean Janzen, Pat Wittstruck, Shirley Hawkins and Barbara Vojteck.

Dorothy Ruby was elected the corresponding secretary from the Rocky Mountain Region of ISA. This officer is elected by the school where the convention is to be held.

Chi O's plan holiday dance at Fontenelle

An annual dinner dance will highlight the Thanksgiving vacation for Chi Omegas and their dates. The dinner-dance is scheduled for Nov. 24 and will be held at the Fontenelle ballroom.

Gary Penisten and his band will play from 8:30 p.m. to midnight. The Chi O Quartet, Joan Bohrer, Berdena Andrews, Donna Reynolds and Beverly Barnett, will sing.

Chi O's from Nebraska and Ames Chapters have been invited. Guests will be Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson, Miss Mildred Hollingsworth and Miss Margaret Killian.

English fraternity votes name change

Breaking away from the original title, Sigma Tau Delta, the honorary English fraternity will be known as "The Club." This was decided at its meeting held last Wednesday.

In spite of the change, studies of writings and literature will continue, but everyone has agreed to discontinue paying national dues.

Two officers elected were Berkley Forsythe, president, and Judy Swafford, secretary-treasurer.

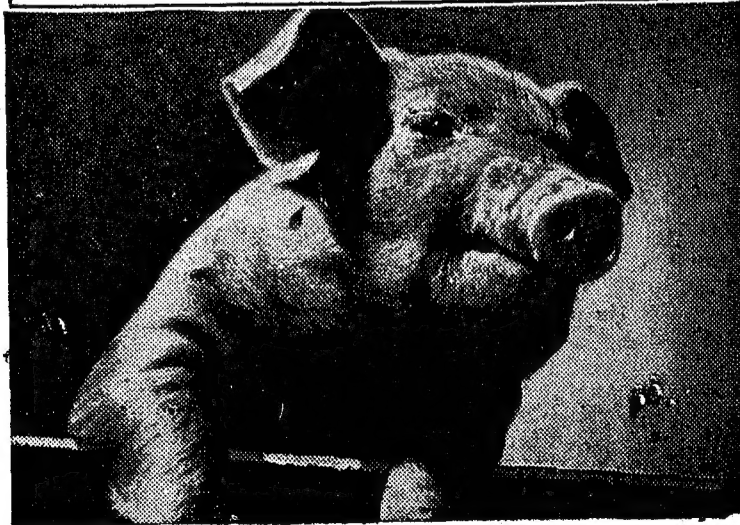

At the next meeting on Nov. 26 new members voted eligible for "The Club" will be entertained with recordings of Shakespearean plays.

Sponsors for the honorary English club are Dr. Ralph Wardle and Dr. Robert D. Harper.

"My wife greets me at the door every night with a kiss."
"That's real affection."
"No. It's investigation."

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil
Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

WHENEVER SHEEDY gave a gal the glad ham she turned up her snout. Poor Paul took pen and oink and wrote a letter home: "I'm sty-mied. All the gals think I'm a boar. To get a date is a pig's feat!" His mother wrote back: "Even a dullard like you should know enough to borrow his roommate's Wildroot Cream-Oil! It's non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. Makes your hair look neat and well-groomed." That was the pig-me-up Sheedy needed. Now he's imporkant... hogs and kisses all the girls. Better try Wildroot Cream-Oil yourself. Get it at your favorite drug or toilet goods counter—and ask for professional applications at your barber chop!

Band, pep groups join to cheer pigskin team in rally, parade today

A pep rally through the halls will be held this morning at 11:50 a.m. to noon. The parade will then migrate to the Student Center for a rally at noon.

Cheerleaders Feathers, and Warriors will join the pep band to cheer the football team before the last game of the year tomorrow.

Jackie Zerbe, cheerleading captain, asks everyone to attend the rally and boost the team to victory.

The cheerleaders have also announced two additions to their squad after tryouts held last Friday. They are Dale Cockerill, named to replace Wesley Fulner, and Bob Russell, alternate.

A skit is being planned, under the direction of Berkley Forsythe. It will be presented after the rally.

High school debaters will be guests of OU for invitational tournament

The University of Omaha will be host to 16 debate teams that will attend the High School Invitational Debate Tournament Nov. 29, 30, and Dec. 1.

Teams will use the National High School Debate proposition, "Resolved: that all American citizens should be conscripted for essential service in time of war."

Debate coaches and two teams from each of six Omaha and two Council Bluffs high schools will take part in the Round Robin tourney. J. D. Tyson, university debate coach, said each team will have an opportunity to debate with all participating teams.

Medals will be given to the two outstanding debaters, and a trophy to the school with the highest scores.

Thursday evening a banquet will be given for participants, parents, and friends by Pi Kappa Delta, debate fraternity.

Duane Post, OU PKO president, is chairman of the tourney.
